Communication skills for everyday success

Success in effective communication is at the heart of today's language education. The 'can-do' approach and the competency levels of the Common European Framework were adopted by Euroexam International as the basis for their exams. In 2001, Euroexams became the first international examination system where the levels, exam tasks, and breakdown of certificate results all corresponded directly to the CEFR standard.

Today, Euroexam International is a leading provider of language testing and educational services. It is recognised by ministries, schools, universities and the broader language teaching profession.

The exams

Candidates can take a Euroexam in English or German at five levels, A1 to C1. Each exam follows a uniform structure with four separate tests, each focusing on one of the main skills: Reading, Writing, Listening and Speaking. Assessing students' underlying knowledge of grammar and vocabulary is seamlessly integrated into productive skills testing.

Authenticity and effective communication are at the heart of the General, Business and Academic suites of the Euroexams.

The network

The Euroexams are offered across three continents through a fast-growing network of 125 local testing centres: at language schools, secondary schools and university departments.

All Local Test Centres are certified, and follow Euroexam International professional examination procedures.

Support

The Eurocity and Euroexpress exam preparation coursebooks provide step-by-step development in all four language skills, as well as effective practice in exam strategies.

Students also have free-of-charge access to a wide range of online support, including Euroexam's award-winning teacher-assisted e-learning course.

The certificates

Euroexam International certificates document the result for each skill tested in the exam separately, along with the final, overall result. This provides educational institutions and employers not only with the required evidence of language proficiency, but also detailed information about the candidate's specific ability in each of the skills.

For teachers

Each academic year, there is a full calendar of events providing teachers with the chance to improve their classroom skills and share good practice. Accredited Euroexam teacher training courses have helped hundreds of teachers integrate effective exam preparation into their everyday teaching.

Euroexam webinars provide an excellent opportunity for teachers to access online professional development, find out more about the Euroexam tests, and get a better understanding of communicative assessment.

Focus on real-world skills

Students can choose from Euroexam General Language Tests, EuroPro for Business and Professional purposes, or Euroexam Academic, depending on their long-term goals and personal needs. All three suites of the Euroexams share a similar structure, in which the four language skills are assessed independently in separate papers.

Euroexam General Language Tests

The Euroexam English and German General Language Tests meet the practical, everyday needs of students in a multilingual world. They assess candidates' ability to communicate effectively in a real-life environment. The exams are recognised by ministries and universities throughout the region.

The lower level exams are ideal for schools, providing a positive and motivating goal for students and their teachers. Higher level exams are the perfect choice for those planning to start university courses in their own country and wishing to improve their career prospects.

EuroPro for Business & Professional purposes

Focusing on typical business situations, the EuroPro tests are communicative exams testing all four language skills. They meet the real-world needs of language users in a multilingual business and professional environment.

The EuroPro tests can currently be taken at three levels: B1, B2 and C1 in English.

Euroexam Academic

The Academic tests are most useful for those wishing to study at university or college in English, often abroad. Students taking the Euroexam Academic test demonstrate their ability to fulfil language requirements and start studying in English anywhere in the world.

Overview of the Exam	A1	A2	B1	B2	C1	C1 Academic
	Number of tasks / Minutes
Reading	3 tasks / 25'	3 tasks / 35'	3 tasks / 35'	3 tasks / 40'	3 tasks / 50'	3 tasks / 50'
Writing	2 tasks / 20'	2 tasks / 30'	2 tasks / 50'	2 tasks / 60'	2 tasks / 60'	2 tasks / 60'
Listening	3 tasks / 35'	3 tasks / 30'	3 tasks / 35'	3 tasks / 35'	3 tasks / 40'	3 tasks / 45'
Speaking	4 tasks / 20'	4 tasks / 20'	4 tasks / 20'	4 tasks / 20'	3 tasks / 20'	3 tasks / 20'

Speaking – face-to-face with another candidate

Face-to-face interaction in the exam gives a much more reliable indicator of the candidates' communicative abilities in real-life situations.

Benefits of taking a spoken exam in pairs:

- real-time and genuine engagement in a realistic communicative situation

- a greater variety of task types, including telling a story, or giving a mini-presentation, a transactional role-play and an in-depth discussion
- more variety and a higher level of interaction

Gateway to a wider world

The Euroexams' transparent level system provides reliable results for educational institutions and employers. The Euroexams at Level B2 and Level C1 are widely accepted, by universities across Europe, as proof of English language proficiency for studying at undergraduate and postgraduate degree level.
